

SHOPPING FOR WOOD PRODUCTS?

Think before you buy lumber labeled:

Western Forest Products,
Interfor, or Weyerhaeuser “Cedar One”

These products are usually brought to you by workers who are now taking action to have safer, better workplaces, not to mention working conditions that allow them to have more time with their families.

Forest workers want to be back on the job. But not under the current conditions that have them traveling and working 12 -16 hours a days doing some of the most dangerous work there is.

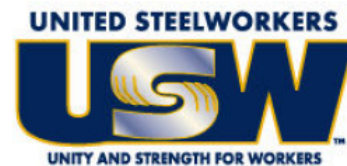

Since January, 2005, more than 65 forest workers have been killed. In 2006, a coroner's jury confirmed that unsafe shifts and contracting out have increased the likelihood of injuries and fatalities.

IT'S JUST A LITTLE THING – BUT IT MEANS A LOT

By not buying lumber supplied by Western Forest Products, Interfor and/or Weyerhaeuser (“Cedar One” products) you would be sending a message to the companies and the retailers – that you support a safer, better forest industry in our province, one that is a good place for men and women to work and that gives you the quality and products you deserve and expect.
